DETAILED ACTION

Status of Claims

In response to the Amendment filed 9/10/04, Claims 21-37 are pending.

Terminal Disclaimer Not Accepted

The terminal disclaimer filed on 9/10/04 disclaiming the terminal portion of any patent granted on this application which would extend beyond the expiration date of U.S. Patent No. 6,626,678 has been reviewed and is not accepted because the fee for filing the Terminal Disclaimer has not been paid and there is no authorization of record to charge the fee. Therefore, the Double Patenting rejection from the last office action is maintained.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970);and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 21, 22, 26-30 and 33-37 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2 and 7 of U.S. Patent No. 6,626,678. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the patent claims that the user could be an adult subject, that the pieces are suitable for arrangement by the subject, and the pieces can be used by the subject in a simple assembly. It would further have been obvious that the patent claimed kit has means for engaging pieces on a rack and that where when so engaged, the pieces resist accidental disarrangement (Patent claim 1-(i) means for engaging the tile elements at a plurality of loci on the rack).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 21-24, 26 and 33-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Foresman in view of Monson (US 5,090,935).

Foresman discloses a plurality of pieces that have a surface layer formed of foam and collectively exhibit different tactility when handled (due to different shapes), the pieces suitable for arrangement in simple assembly, and a means for engaging said pieces on a rack wherein the pieces resist disarrangement. The type of user in the claimed invention is considered not to further the invention as claimed as a user of Foresman's invention is capable of being an adult subject having a medically diagnosed dementia.

Foresman does not disclose expressly a surface layer formed of a soft fabric (e.g., soft exterior surface made of fabric such as felt or the like). However, Monson teaches pieces (i.e., components) that individually have a surface formed of a soft fabric in Col.3: 5-15. Therefore, at the time of the invention, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to incorporate a plurality of pieces that individually have a surface layer formed of a soft fabric into the education system kit of Foresman, in light of the teaching of Monson, in order to facilitate safe enjoyment of the kit.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 25 and 31-32 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Citation of Pertinent Prior Art

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection. This action is made NON-FINAL.
